1 Introduction

The agricultural sector in Northeastern Ontario is a vibrant part of the local economy. Still, there is even greater potential for the region to become a major player in the agricultural sector of Ontario and of Canada.

Agriculture in the area was once a very strong part of the Cochrane District economy however, over the years, this industry has lost the great presence it once had. Currently, there are over 1 million acres of un- or under-utilized agricultural land in Northeastern Ontario.

This offers exceptional opportunity for new talent and investment. The following demonstrates the strong network of agriculture-related services already established in Cochrane District.
